BeBo® in Athen – February 2011

In October 2010 we presented our BeBo concept of pelvic floor training to a large group of physiotherapists in Athens, Greece. This took place on invitation by George Karampalis from “epimorfosis”, a well-established post-graduate training centre for physiotherapists and other health professions.

The course participants were very enthusiastic and eager to learn our well defined training concept: it was the first course of its kind in Greece. The second Part of the BeBo PF training Course was completed in February 2011. Participants commented as to the need for a multifaceted approach in the area of pelvic floor rehabilitation for their patients. The course atmosphere was very congenial and we were very pleased with the great interest and participation shown by the participants.

A second round of courses is anticipated to take place in the second half of 2011.
